Howdy Yucky!

Welcome to our icky, sticky world!

Do you love birthdays as much as we do?
Do you celebrate just once a year,
or anytime you feel like it - just like us?
Do you sneak your fingers into the yummy cake
and taste it before blowing out the candles,
just to try it first?
If your fingers haven't seen soap and water
in a looong, looong time,
then this story is just for you!

*Bugsy and Gooley, we're smelly little beings,
get comfy and cozy, while we do our silly things!*

HAPPY BIRTHDAY TO US (AGAIN)!

Bugsy and Gooley are two mischievous bacteria who love to celebrate their birthdays.

Although neither Bugsy nor Gooley have any idea when their birthday actually is, they celebrate it several times a year. This is because they always want to receive gifts, blow out candles on cakes, and most of all, they enjoy making a mess on their birthday. That's what bacteria are like. They always go overboard and do everything their own way.

This year they have celebrated their birthday seven times already, and now they will celebrate it for the eighth time, in the dirtiest playroom in the world, "Under The Nail".

Owner of the dirtiest playroom in the world "Under the Nail" was a little girl called Nora. She really didn't like to wash her hands. Her hands and nails were always sticky, or muddy, or full of glitter, and sometimes even puddingish.

Nora loves to put her fingers in puddings, cakes, puddles, watercolours, sand castles, even in her own slimy nose. She likes to pet cats, dogs and birds. She loves to collect snails after rain and leaves from the city park. She counts seats in the bus, and she has to touch each one with her finger.

The gross thing is that Nora puts these dirty fingers in her mouth because she bites her nails. The same nails under which Bugsy and Gooley were having their birthday party.

Bugsy and Gooley were enjoying their party very much. Their friends were enjoying it too. They had tasty snacks, spicy rolls and all kinds of food bacteria love to eat: yucky chocolate cookies filled with mud, sweet dusty strudel, gummy doughnuts and slimy bubbly drinks.

Bugsy, Gooley and their friends were playing hide and seek and were running around from one nail to another, from one finger to another until they felt dizzy.

Some bacteria accidentally sat on a cake. Some crashed the plate with snacks. It was the sloppiest birthday bash ever!
